RYAN MILK COMPANY BUYS DAIRY FIRM

Seen & Heard
Around
MURRAY

Murray has one industry which we have run stories on from time to time, which should be plugged often.

This is the Ryan Milk Company. Jim Garrison runs this local industry which turns out milk products of all kinds.

Now here is one reason this industry is so important to Murray and Calloway County.

When you purchase milk and milk products from the All Jersey folks, you are helping to promote a local industry which has grown tremendously during the past several years.

The company pays out over $2,000,000 each year for milk purchased from Calloway County farmers, for wages to the many employees at the plant, and for the many other services which are demanded by a large milk products operation.

Buying All Jersey milk is one of the best ways we know of saving your cake and having it too. This is one local industry which fits a large number of people from the milk producer who sells milk to the plant to the folks who own the plant.

When we order milk we usually say "we want Murray milk."

The Better Roads Council had a big meeting here last night. Harry Sparks said we could raise the $175 million dollars without raising taxes. Maybe so but we don't know how.

We remember President Truman used to always say that industry could raise wages without raising the price of their products. For some unknown reason it never seemed to work out though.

Young fellow about eleven years old in the office yesterday and he was told that this is a newspaper office. "Well, I thought something funny was going on around here," he says.

We started to tell him that a person did not have to be a little off to be in the newspaper business, but it might help.

Our work became suddenly disorganized the other day when a lady walks in the office wearing a bikini bathing suit. Our constitution just does not allow for concentration on business when such events occur.

This is the last day of school for a lot of folks and to say they are glad would be putting it mildly.

We offer our sincere sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Brent Manning. We had known David for several years and he was close to our boys. We can't help but think of the sermon topic last week of Dr. David Nelson at the First Baptist Church when he preached on "An Adequate Gospel". His conclusion was that Christ is adequate for any trial or tribulation or tragedy which might befall us on this earth. And He is.

Two buildings on the court square sold yesterday. The Graham & Jackson building and the one occupied by Everett's.

We figured the Tax Commissioner was pleased as such a sale at this particular time since he can use these figures to reach a fair sale price of other buildings in the area.

Times when life seems better than usual: when the sixteen year old offers to wash the car, for nothing.

"Who was that lady I seen you with?" Answer, look below.

The Body Of Woman Found In Clark's River Is Identified

The body found floating in the Clark's River near Kirksey yesterday has been identified as that of Mrs. Frances Hale Taylor, widow of W. Parker Taylor Paducah. Mrs. Hale was a sister-in-law of former Congressman Noble Gregory of Mayfield.

An inquest was to have been held this morning, however it was postponed and the body removed to Paducah where an autopsy will be performed. Deputy Sheriff Dale Spain said that a report will be received here in eight to ten days then a hearing will be held.

The body of Mrs. Taylor, fully clothed, was found floating in the shallow waters of Clark's River shortly after noon on Thursday.

The cause of Mrs. Taylor's death has not been determined as yet. She had a reddened spot on the right side of her head and a slight scratch, but other side the body was not marked.

Mrs. Taylor was 60 years old and lived in Paducah until about one year ago when she moved to Mayfield. Her husband was a partner in the Taylor-Wilson motor company in Paducah. She lived in Mayfield with her mother Mrs. Elizabeth Wilford Hale.

A search was made of a 1965 Chevrolet, which was found parked in the area. One purse found nearby contained a marriage license issued to Mrs. Taylor and Walker Scott Roberts, 63 of Owensboro. They were to have been married on Sunday.

Mr. Roberts told police that he was called yesterday by Mrs. Sally Hale of Mayfield. Mrs. Taylor's sister-in-law, and told that Mrs. Taylor did not return home on Wednesday night. Mrs. Taylor's car had been sighted in the area where her body was found, on Wednesday.

Her shoes were found near the body and her watch was found in one shoe.

Mrs. Taylor was known by a number of Murray people and was well thought of. She is survived by her mother; two sisters Mrs. Noble Gregory and Mrs. W. L. Harp of Mayfield; and several other relatives in the area.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at this time. The body will be removed to the Byrn Funeral Home in Mayfield.

"That wasn't no lady, that was my dog," says John Mader in La Crosse, Wis. Well, he didn't really say that—his grand-ma is not as bad as that ancient rhapsody John. The dog in a 3-year-old Afghan hound named Belton's Didi-Mond. John calls him Bess, and Bess is not wearing a wig, either.

Sparks Lashes Out At Those Who Try To Cloud Bond Issue

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Harry Sparks, lashed out last night "at those persons trying to confuse the true facts of the Bond Issue."

Speaking before a group of citizens representing Calloway and surrounding counties, Sparks said there are some individuals trying to tie the Court of Appeals tax ruling in with the $176 million Bond question, "and they're misleading you."

The state school chief, appearing on the Murray State College campus, voiced total support of the Bond Issue, then warned that if Kentuckians fail to approve it November 2, the tax situation could become critical.

"We cannot afford to lose this vast amount of federal money," he stressed. "And if the voters say no, then you can bet our Legislature will look for other ways to match federal dollars."

Dr. Sparks explained that even though Kentucky will vote on just $176 million, the Commonwealth stands to gain a total of nearly $900 million because of federal matching programs—some on a 3-1 ratio.

"Pulling an old saying from the air, Dr. Sparks quipped: "Them that has gets; them that ain't got it, don't get it." He added, "With so much federal matching money available, Kentucky must go somewhere to find its share."

Sparks said the Bond Issue is the best way to finance current needs because "not one dime in additional taxes will be necessary to pay our obligations. A proven economic growth will do this. He referred to figures showing how the bonds can be retired without more taxes."

U.S. Plane Crashes In Saigon With Full Load Of Bombs

By RAY F. HERNDON
United Press International
SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. Air Force B-57 Canberra twin-jet bomber crippled by enemy fire crashed today in the coastal city of Nha Trang with its full load of sixteen 250-pound bombs. The thunderous series of explosions killed or injured 60 persons.

A U.S. military spokesman said at least 12 Vietnamese nationals were killed and another 63 injured. Eight Americans were hurt — five airmen, two Marines and a soldier. Two of the injured were the pilot and co-pilot who parachuted into the sea.

The fire and explosions touched off secondary fires and the military spokesman said additional bodies were thought to be in the area. But the presence of unexploded bombs hampered rescue workers while fire prevented demolition crews from defusing the remaining bombs.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock at the Kennedy Funeral Home chapel. Rev. Tilton Garner will officiate. Burial will be in the Woodlawn Memorial Garden Cemetery. Friends may call at the Kennedy Funeral Home in Paducah.

Delta Omega Branch Of Society Meets

The Delta Omega Branch of Kappa Delta Pi Honor Society and Education held its summer banquet and initiation at the women's club house. About 25 members participated in the initiation ceremony which was conducted by the officers and counselors and Dr. Edward Brunner. After the initiation the group proceeded to the dining room where a delicious banquet was served.

The program consisted of a speech by Dr. Frank Kodman from the School of Education of Murray State College. He spoke on the topic "The scholarly teacher in our schools."

The people that were initiated were Marcia Bellamy, Patricia Brantley, Joetta Christopher, Jacquelyn Clark, Edna Darnell, Maurice Duncan, Barbara Etter, Virginia Foster, Margaret Franklin, Cliff Gilbreath, Janice Harrison, Jane Howard, Betty Gouston, Nancy Johnson, Edwin Jones, Roger Little, Muril O'Bryan, Helen Parker, Alice Pearce, Ed Perkins, Wanda Peterson, Loyce Rayburn, Gladys Shelby, Ann Watson, and Ruby Wood. Initiates who were unable to attend were Don Seaford and Regina Seamer.

This meeting was a concluding one for the summer. The next meeting will be held in the fall and will be reported by Dr. Ethel Miller.

Budget Meet Held By Center Board

The Board of the Murray Calloway County Mental Health Center met last night at the home of Mrs. C. C. Lowry to discuss a tentative budget for the center for the next year.

An effort is being made to have the services of a psychiatrist, a psychologist and a psychiatric social worker each week, rather than the two times a month as it now is. The budget of the Center will have to be almost doubled if this type of service is to be offered.

Various sources of income were studied by the group, headed by Mrs. Lowry. It was pointed out that about $2,000 annually in Calloway County Medical Society, the schools and the Murray Calloway County Health Center is vital. These are the agencies which normally would refer patients to the Center it was determined.

It was brought out in discussion that the Center is not a service just to indigent patients, but is a Center for the treatment of mental illness, staffed by qualified personnel.

"The wonderful thing about this Center," Mrs. Lowry said, "is that people here in Murray and Calloway County may obtain services at a fairly small fee which normally they would have to travel for many miles to obtain."

"Our citizens not only do not have to make the long and tiring trips to obtain psychiatric counsel," Mrs. Lowry said, "but they are able to obtain these services at a definite saving."

The Center Board is working to obtain funds to give this expanded service to the people of the county. Long range plans call for marriage counseling, and other services although these are now being offered on limited scale.

Sidney Easley Will Speak On Sunday

Sidney Easley who recently graduated from the University of Kentucky school of law will be the speaker at the 11 o'clock morning service on Sunday, August 8, at the Martin's Chapel Methodist Church. The speaker is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Johnson Easley. The public is invited to attend.

Entire Operation Moved To Murray; More Are Employed

James Garrison, president of the Ryan Milk Company today announced that the company has acquired the assets of General Dairy Service of Mt. Vernon, Indiana. General Dairy Service is engaged in the processing and marketing of special dairy products over a wide area in the south. Some of the products are cottage cheese, sour cream, sour cream party dips, buttermilk culture, butter, salads, orange juice, yogurt and several other related dairy items.

Garrison said that the entire operation along with key management personnel will be moved to Murray. The firm will now be known as General Dairy Service, Division of Ryan Milk Company of Murray, Kentucky.

The acquisition of this firm will greatly expand the services of Ryan Milk Company and will give employment to a number of Calloway County citizens. The demands for more milk produced by Calloway County people will also be increased, Garrison said.

Mr. Garrison listed the following people who will move to Murray in key management positions:

L. Shemwell, who formerly lived in Indianapolis, will be the production manager of the new division. He will be in charge of the dairy products laboratory.

Jack Anderson of Mt. Vernon, Indiana, will serve as administrative manager of the new division with certain other company wide responsibilities.

Sam Cook of Greenwood, Mississippi has assumed the position as general plant supervisor of Ryan Milk Company effective August 1.

"We are proud to bring these fine people and their families to Murray," Garrison said. "We think General Dairy Service will be an asset to our company and to the community. We have already employed approximately ten new people who will work with the new division," he continued.

"Whatever growth and success we have enjoyed, has been possible only because of the wonderful support of the people of Murray and this area," Garrison concluded.

Ryan Milk Company spends over $2,000,000 annually in Calloway County for milk and for wages and salaries.

It was brought out in discussion that the Center is not a service just to indigent patients, but is a Center for the treatment of mental illness, staffed by qualified personnel.

"The wonderful thing about this Center," Mrs. Lowry said, "is that people here in Murray and Calloway County may obtain services at a fairly small fee which normally they would have to travel for many miles to obtain."

"Our citizens not only do not have to make the long and tiring trips to obtain psychiatric counsel," Mrs. Lowry said, "but they are able to obtain these services at a definite saving."

Sidney Easley who recently graduated from the University of Kentucky school of law will be the speaker at the 11 o'clock morning service on Sunday, August 8, at the Martin's Chapel Methodist Church. The speaker is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Johnson Easley. The public is invited to attend.

Twenty-seven members and guests of the New Concord Homemakers Club returned home early Wednesday morning after spending Tuesday on a bus trip to Bardstown.

The group boarded the bus at six o'clock Tuesday morning. Their first stop was at Mammoth Cave National Park where they took the short tour of the cave.

At Bardstown the group made tours of "My Old Kentucky Home" and St. Joseph's Cathedral which is the oldest Catholic Church west of the Allegheny Mountains.

The return trip was made via the Western Kentucky Parkway through Hopkinsville due to the partial closing of the Cumberland River bridge at Barkley Dam.

The trip was made by funds that the club had collected through their money making projects throughout the year. One of the projects was the making of an applique flower quilt in which each member made one quilt block to complete the entire quilt.

Members making the trip were Hilda McCoslin, Esther Sigmon, Rowena Stubblefield, Mary Montgomery, Louise Patterson, Bess Dunn, Ruth Webb, Lucille Cowles, Roene Johnson, Sue Adams, Olla Mae James, June Cud, Edna King, Ethelene Bailey, Della Mae Smith, Burline Lovins, and Reba Hughes.

Four visitors were Miss Sandy Adams, Mrs. Conale Adams, Mrs. Novis Ewell, and Mrs. Jerry Broshers. Children included were Chuck, Bill, and Susan Adams, Terry Smith, Debbie Kingins, and Judy Costen.

Those attending reported a very enjoyable trip and were impressed with the wonderful sights to see in the state of Kentucky.

This was the second bus trip for the New Concord Club. Last year the trip was to Nashville, Tenn.

An investment in Your Future ...ATTEND CHURCH

"Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised.)"

Have faith in God. He will lead us in the right paths. He will never fail.

As the highways are clearly marked and numbered so that we might easily find our way from city to city and across the nation, God's word clearly marks life's paths.

Attend church regularly and exercise your faith in God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Miss Lashlee Bell Hooned At Shower At The Pitts' Home

Another delightful courtesy extended to Miss Lashlee Bell, August bride-elect of Ronald Paul Foster, was the miscellaneous shower held Thursday, July 29, at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Pitts on the College Farm Road.

Mrs. Donald Staley, Miss Anna Lanier, Miss Judy Regard, Miss Donna Seakord, Miss Judy Adams, and Miss Linda Durnaway were the charming hostesses for the principal event.

The honoree chose to wear from her trousseau a dark brown sheath with a white pique collar edged with black braid and a large black bow at the neck. Her hostesses' gift came in the form of a white carnation.

A polar scene of pink and white was used in the decorations. Refreshments of cake and punch were served from the beautifully appointed table centered with an arrangement of multicolored flowers.

Twenty guests were present or sent gifts.

Bridal Shower Held For Miss Thomas At Farmington

Miss Shirley Thomas, August 10 bride-elect of Donald Harrison Doran, was complimented with a lovely bridal shower at the Farmington Community Building on Friday, July 30, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The principal hostesses for the principal event were Mrs. Fred Harrison and Mrs. Henry Doran, aunts of the bride.

The bride chose from her trousseau a dress of pink and white. Her mother, Mrs. Marion Thomas, wore a brown, belted dress with matching accessories.

Following the shower, Mrs. Doran and Mrs. Doran assisted in serving.

Mrs. Louis Kerlick Opens Home For Lottie Moon Meet

The home of Mrs. Louis Kerlick on Cardinal Drive was the scene of the meeting of the Lottie Moon Circle of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church, held on Monday, August 2, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening.

The offering: Maximum Response was the theme of the program presented with Mrs. Murray Towner as the leader. Officers taking part were Mrs. Allen McCoy, Mrs. Little McDaniel, Mrs. Henry Warren, Mrs. G. B. Jones, and Mrs. A. W. Russell.

Mrs. Henry Warren, chairman; Mrs. Pardon Outland, co-chairman; Mrs. T. C. Coffey, secretary; Mrs. O. B. Jones, treasurer; Mrs. A. W. Russell, mission study; Mrs. Allen McCoy, publicity; Mrs. Eugene Terry, Jr., social; Mrs. Odele Caldwell, stewardship; Mrs. Thomas B. Hargraves, missionary speaker; Mrs. Odele Caldwell, community wife; Mrs. Russell Howard, prayer.

The chairman, Mrs. Kerlick, presided and Mrs. Ray Brownfield led the opening prayer.

The hostesses, Mrs. Kerlick and Mrs. Little McDaniel, served refreshments during the social hour. Announcement was made of the next meeting to be held on Tuesday, September 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. A. W. Russell.

Dear Abby

Age-Old Problem

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be facing this problem, but I am. To get right to the point, our 15-year-old daughter is "in trouble." The boy is 16. They went steady for a year. I never suspected anything like this could happen. He is such a nice boy from a good family, and we never dreamed our daughter was in danger with him. We have already talked to the boy and his parents. His parents say they will do anything we decide on. The boy says he would rather not get married, but if he has the choice of either getting married or being sent to a reformatory or a work farm, he'll marry her. Our daughter doesn't say anything, she just cries. My husband says we should force a marriage immediately. I think we should send her to a home for unwed mothers, give up the baby for adoption, and try to live down this awful mess. No outsiders know about this and we want to keep it quiet. Can you help us?

DEAR LIVING: No one can "force" a boy or man to marry. And it's just as well. An unwilling bridegroom makes a miserable husband and a worse father. I agree with you. Under the circumstances, your daughter would probably be better off in a home for unwed mothers. If you want the names of some homes in your area, I can provide them if you send me your name and address. No other information is necessary, and it will be strictly confidential. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and have a problem which bugs me. I have an English pen pal about my age. She writes these real long letters telling me how popular she is and how many dates she has. She brags all over the place about her different romances and all the places she goes. I am getting awfully fed up with reading all these lies and, besides, she is giving me an inferiority complex. I would like to quit writing to her. Should I just write and tell her I think she is a liar and I don't believe a word she says? Sign me.

DEAR BUGGED: It isn't necessary to be unkind or insulting. If your pen pal "bugs" you, gradually reduce the correspondence and then let it die.

DEAR ABBY: Whatever happened to the social etiquette and the previous approach? I have just received an "invitation" to a "show" or by mail with no suggestion of a social gathering. It is just an out and out commercial proposition to send the bride a gift. Surely giving a shower, the bride should make a social occasion of it, honoring the bride, offering good fellowship, and a bit of refreshment — the gift being a by-product, not the whole end in itself. If one knows the bride well enough, one would send a gift without being "invited" to do so. Surely our new generation is not so totally selfish and ignorant of tradition as to put on such a shoddy show of commercialism at this.

Please print something to forestall this sort of thing before it becomes commonplace.

DEAR DISGUSTED: People at weddings do not "show" because they are supposed to. They do so because they are so kind.

Family Dinner Held At Carrington Home

Mrs. Henry Carrington celebrated her 79th birthday Sunday, July 25, at her home in Fuyar, Tenn. The dinner was also for her grandson, Jesse Arnold of Murray, who left July 26 for service in the Army.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold, Jesse, Francis, and Elizabeth Arnold, Mrs. Thelma Dunn, and Mrs. Betty Dunn and son, Ronnie Dunn, Lyle, John, and Ellen Harris and three children, Olga, Bobby, and Marion Harris, Mrs. Pearl Green, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Martin, Mrs. Ed Elbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Byrum and daughter, Carol and Karen Byrum, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dunn and son, David, and granddaughter, Jill Fay Baris, Mrs. Thelma West and Mrs. Kate Chaney.

Jesse Arnold is now stationed in South Carolina and Mr. Carrington will be 79 on August 5.

Initiation Held At Rainbow For Girls Assembly Meeting

Murray Assembly No. 19 Order of the Rainbow for Girls held its regular meeting at the Masonic Hall on Tuesday, August 3, at seven o'clock in the evening.

On initiation was held with the degree of the under being conferred upon Miss Vicki McKel. Miss Barbara Flynn, worthy advisor, presided at the meeting.

Members present were Barbara Flynn, Carolyn McKel, Linda Stolar, Connie DePriest, Sharon Norworthy, Rosetta Robertson, Vicki Singleton, Sherri Outland, Bonnie Williams, Kay Sykes, Anita Flynn, Kathy Rasmussen, Vicki McKel, and Mrs. Frances Churchill, mother advisor.

Masonic and Eastern Stars present were Mrs. Charles Flynn, Mrs. Telle Outland, Mrs. Bernice Trank, and George Williams.

Proceeding the meeting a hamburger supper was served at six-fifteen o'clock in the evening at the Hall. The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, August 17, at seven p.m. at the Masonic Hall.

List Of Plentiful Foods Given For Month Of August

August is the time for sandwiches and outdoor cooking, and many foods for these uses are available at good prices this month, according to Mrs. Lotta Asper, UK Extension marketing specialist.

Broiler-fryers will still be a top selection for the outside grill, and wings and necks during August, especially since both meat and bone prices are expected to remain as about the same high level as in July. Broiler prices will be about the same to slightly lower, in some cases as last month.

Lamb and fish are still among the best food buys too, but you probably will see fewer specials on lamb in August than during the past two months. This is due to the season for new fisheries; this means lower retail prices, so look for specials at the fish counter. Local markets will have supplies of lake trout, halibut, whitefish, cod (white), pompano, shrimp, scallops, and crabmeat.

Prices of large Grade A eggs probably will be a few cents a dozen higher in August, but small and medium eggs should show little price change. Egg prices are expected to average higher for the rest of the year than during the first six months, Mrs. Asper points out.

At the fruit counter, look for good buys on California pears. Thompson Seedling grapes, watermelons, Indiana hard-shell cantaloupes, fresh oranges, and grapefruit. Large supplies of frozen concentrated orange juice also are available.

The national peach crop is larger than last year, although Kentucky crops are smaller. Indiana and Michigan will supply Kentucky markets with peaches during August. Prices on good quality storage apples have gone quite a bit higher, although new-crop apples are available at fairly good prices. Although orange and grapefruit crops are larger this year, the lemon crop is smaller and lemon prices will remain high.

Expect to see temporarily lower prices on all potatoes during the first few weeks of August because of harvest from nearby areas, Mrs. Asper notes. Other vegetables now economical include snap and pole beans, asparagus, celery, sweet corn, green beans, eggplant, tomatoes, zucchini, and radishes.

STEEPED ON TITLE — Gladys Jon, "Miss New York State" of 1950 and first Negro to win the sash, changes in New York that she was stripped of her title because she is a Negro. Ted Marshall, director of the New York State Beauty Pageant, said the 22-year-old former Chicago Playboy Club bunny had been relieved of her title because of "an unwillingness to fulfill the obligations of the title." He said she title will remain vacant until the 1960 "Miss U.S.A." Pageant.

CHAPTER 30

LUCIA Bernard had heard the car stop at the foot of the ramp and was waiting for me in the darkness of the patio. "Pierre!" she called softly. "Yes," I answered. Suddenly she put her arms out, and for a moment we embraced. Then we went into the house. She didn't ask about money or anything else. Instead, she went and poured me a drink, and then stood watching me.

I swallowed most of the drink and got rid of the rest in the coat, the revolver and the envelope. Then I went over to the fire. It must have been maddening for her, but some sort of a reaction had set in and I couldn't seem to think of a place to begin.

Finally, I said, "We'll know in an hour."

"Whether they will buy?"

"How much they will pay."

Two hundred thousand French francs or the equivalent of a hundred and seventy-five thousand in American dollars or Swiss francs. One of the other. Delivery tomorrow night.

She stared at me and then sat down abruptly. I went and refilled my own glass and I poured one for her, too. Then I began to tell her how the meeting with Skuriet had gone.

When I had finished, she still seemed dazed.

"They must want . . . she began, but didn't complete the sentence.

I completed it for her. "Yes, they must want it very badly. Even for an oil consortium that's a lot of money to pay for information. There's one thing though. He was very insistent that it had to be the only copy, that it hadn't been photographed. I assured him that it hadn't.

"Did he believe you?"

"I think so. As I was telling the truth about the photograph. I was probably convincing enough. In any case, he more or less has to believe me. Even if he's not absolutely certain, there's nothing he can do about it."

There I was wrong.

The telephone number of the Travelodge Motel Cote d'Azur at Antibes was in the book. I put through the call at exactly eleven-thirty. The night concierge said that Monsieur Kostas was already talking on the telephone. I waited five minutes and called again. This time I was put through to him.

"Monsieur Kostas?"

"Ah yes." He recognized my voice. The decision is to pay the money in French francs. The other method would not be convenient."

"Two hundred thousand then."

"Yes. What arrangements do you wish for concluding the business?"

"I'll let you know tomorrow. Supposing I telephone you at six o'clock in the evening."

"That will be convenient. There is one important matter. He paused. 'I was authorized to tell you that my principals have information that three representatives of the Committee left Geneva by air this afternoon. Their destination was Nice.'

"I see. Thank you."

"It is not only a gesture of good will. My principals are concerned that we—you and I—take every precaution possible to see that our business is concluded safely. May I offer you some advice?"

"Go ahead."

"The arrangements for our meeting used tonight were simple and worked well. They would work well again. Modify them if you wish, but do not feel that you have to change them to protect yourself from trickery on my part. We are serious people, not gangsters. Do you understand?"

"Perfectly. Thank you. I'll call tomorrow at six."

We had been speaking in English, which Lucia didn't understand very well. Even so, she had kept her head against mine trying to get the sense of the conversation.

"What is it? Will they pay?" she asked breathlessly as I hung up.

"Yes. The two hundred thousand."

She flung her arms around my neck and kissed me.

I kissed her back.

After a while she said: "What else was he saying?"

"Oh, that was just about the meeting tomorrow. I'm to call him at six."

She didn't ask any more questions. Quite suddenly, she decided to leave.

THE news from Radio Monaco went well with my breakfast. It reported that I had been seen the previous evening in St. Raphael driving a Simca 1000 in company with a woman answering the description of Lucia Bernard.

After breakfast I thought about the meeting with Skuriet that would come later that day. He had invited me to trust him; as I did, up to a point. Even though our business would, presumably, be concluded after the meeting, and even though he would have no further interest in Lucia and me, I didn't like the idea of his knowing more about us than he needed to know. Something might go wrong.

And then I had what I

FIND SNAKE
FARNBOROUGH, England (AP) — Ival Jenkins was walking past the house of his neighbor, Mrs. Norma Filson, when he saw the tail of a creature disappearing into the vehicle's innards. He and Mrs. Filson banked on the hood to eject the intruder, without success. Mrs. Filson drove her automobile to a garage. Attendants found behind the heater, and removed a 26-inch snake.

TRAINS COLLIDE
BELGRADE (AP) — Two trains collided head-on Thursday near the North Adriatic port of Rijeka, killing three passengers and seriously injuring 30 others, the official Tanjug news agency reported.

SPARKS...

Kentucky's present debt, Sparks answered, "Less than two percent of Kentucky's revenue is being spent for debt service. How many of us can compare that favorably with our personal debt service?"

Additional support for the Bond Issue Thursday was evidenced in remarks made by Dr. Ralph Woods, MSC president; Max Hurt, who presided at the Kentucky Better Roads Council dinner meeting; W. P. Foster of Mayfield and Miss Katherine Peden, commissioner, Kentucky Department of Revenue.

Hurt, analyzing the proposal, said:

U.U. PLANES...

The bodies were discovered this week when villagers failed to get any reply from the hut and broke in. They found the cobra and killed it.

The plane crashed at 3:25 p.m. in the east end of the city's main street just as the city was waking up from its midday slumber. It burst into flames and then the city was shaken with a series of explosions. Two of the eight Americans hurt were members of a fire fighting crew.

this is not a political question rather a basic economic matter that made good sense for all of Kentucky.

NOW YOU KNOW

By United Press International
United States exports to the Soviet Union have dropped from a value of $89.6 million in 1958 to $22.9 million in 1963, according to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

COGRA KILLS SIX

NEW DELHI (AP) — A cobra killed all six members of a family near Hamirbagh, 150 miles northwest of Calcutta, villagers said Thursday.

The cobra apparently entered a hut when the family, including several women and children, retired to bed, the villagers said.

The bodies were discovered this week when villagers failed to get any reply from the hut and broke in. They found the cobra and killed it.

Pathway of the PIONEERS

A great way to enjoy America's spirit is to "follow" the pioneers who made this land from the Plymouth Rock landing of the Pilgrims to the beckoning romance of the Old West. Worth exploring is the first great frontier in the west is a muddy, wooded passage - the way of the pioneers. The rugged, untamed wealth of Kentucky and Virginia and the state of Tennessee join. In 1750, from atop Pisnacle Mountain, Doctor Thomas Walker caught the white man's first glimpse of the Indian's "Happy Hunting Ground." And here young Daniel Boone first saw the "great river."

An early English tourist wrote prophetically of the new territories then just opening up: "Kentucky... is extending in every direction over a tract of the finest and most fertile country in the world; and it is from... this vast country that our country will derive her future greatness and establish her glory." Here surely is a rational and ample field for the well-regulated imagination of the philosopher and politician!

However, few politicians or philosophers were among the early settlers who were drawn to the land by the promise of untold wealth. They envisioned little ahead, save a hard life, maybe good crops in the field, and wild game to kill. Such a man was Abraham Lincoln Sr., killed in an Indian raid long before the birth of his namesake and the nation's first president.

Today, the visitor can share the feelings of these hardy pioneers on an exciting hike along Boone's Trace and the historic wagon trail, Wilderness Road. On the way, he can find choice camping near old McFarlane's Mill and a recreation area.

The old grist mill at Levi Jackson State Park, near London, recalls bustling activity of pioneer days. Numerous items of a bygone era are displayed in the Levi Jackson museum, and swimming and camping are popular at the park.

"The Book of Job" plays nightly except Sundays in the Laurel Cove Amphitheatre at scenic Pine Mountain State Park near Pineville. Play time is 8:30. The park has a modern lodge, vacation cottages and camping area, and facilities for boating and swimming.

The Pinacle Overlook in Cumberland Gap National Historical Park near Middleboro offers a breathtaking panorama of mountain scenery. With the discovery of this pass through the hitherto impenetrable Allegheny Mountains, the wilderness became accessible to the pioneer and conquest of the American West began.

renowned village - complete with split-rail fences, log cabins and authentic pioneer's tools, in Levi Jackson State Park, near Corbin.

The Civil War wrote more chapters in the history of the Cumberland, a key mountain-doorway to the opposing armies. Occupied until May 1862, the town was the only place in the state where Confederate hands thanks to "Long Tom," then the biggest gun in service. Pioneer families whose forefathers together had fought to tame the region found themselves at odds in the tragic conflict.

One of the strange to west Cumberland Gap National Historical Park is Middleboro, a city unlike any in Appalachia. Founded in 1888, it was built as a model town by British capitalists interested in the area's coal, iron and timber resources. The wide and long avenues, stately homes, and golf course reflect the United States - there's a playing vision named for that day.

Song and story play a great part in the area. Happy fiddles and haunting dulcimers ring out in the wooded hollows and many a mountaineer has been known to play his fiddle on the hillside. Collections of old songs, ballads and stories are told through the mountain area for the rich words handed down from one generation to another. And you'll find the singers and story tellers are always eager for an audience.

But there is more to the land of the pioneers than the old songs and stories. The mountains of Laurel, the oldenwood and the bright blooms of other wildflowers deck the hills.

A few miles up the road from Middleboro at Pineville, beautiful Laurel Cove, a natural amphitheatre, is host each May to the Mountain Music Festival. The festival is a celebration of the area's rich musical heritage. The festival is a celebration of the area's rich musical heritage. Pennyroyal State Park is a princely stepping-off-and-visiting-while place in the land of the Pennyroyal, a royal plant in western Kentucky. The lodge contains a noted dining room and 24 modern guest rooms; vacation cottages and camping sites are also available. The Pennyroyal - a fragrant mint-herb in the region, as do fishermen, swimmers, photographers and just plain vacationers, enjoying a good spot to visit. The park has both swimming pool and a lake.

AUDUBON-PENNYRYLE Vacationland

The dark-complexioned, young man, looking in his mid-twenties, was a source of considerable curiosity as he strolled over the countryside. At times he would suddenly pull a sketch-pad from his pocket and begin to draw a sketch of a bird or a landscape. He was a young man who had followed his father's footsteps and had become a naturalist.

Today the visitor can view Audubon's original paintings, the "Pennyroyal" series, in the very countryside where the artist worked in his Kentucky days. At the park you can follow the beechwood-lined trails that he walked. There are house-keeping cottages, tent and trailer sites, swimming pools, and a picnic shelter. The park is a beautiful area with many trails and a great view of the countryside.

Another Confederate shrine is Fairview, birthplace of Jefferson Davis, the only president of the secessionist states. There, and in the surrounding area, are many historical sites and landmarks. The area is a great place to visit for those interested in the Civil War.

There, near Auburn and South Union, they lie strict lines of cemetery, disquieting from the past. The area is a great place to visit for those interested in the Civil War. The area is a great place to visit for those interested in the Civil War.

The Lincoln Heritage

Just southwest of Big and bustling Louisville, there lies along the southern bank of the Ohio River a green and tranquil land that invites exploring by vacationers.

Part of this country lies in the Knobs region, with its flat-topped hills and valleys, and part in the western coal fields, a prairie-like landscape.

This is the region that boasts proudly of Abraham Lincoln's birthplace at the Sinking Spring farm near Hodgenville. The knobby landscape is a reminder of his rugged looks and the gentle lowlands are a reminder of his kindness.

Lincoln's birth cabin is encased in a national shrine at Hodgenville. The country holds many other relics of Lincoln and his family and is on the route of the Lincoln Heritage Trail, which passes through three states. Lincoln once said, "My earliest recollections are of the Knob Creek place," which is in the region. A yoke trip to Springfield takes you to the Washington County Courthouse with the original Lincoln marriage bond and to Lincoln Hodgenville State Park.

Well worth a trip in the spring is Bearheim Forest in red bad time. Its 14,000 acres have four lakes, nature trails and an arboretum.

At Falls of Rough is Rough River State Park, developed around Rough River Lake, with a modern lodge that is headquarters for an elegant vacation resort. The 5,100-acre lake is home to a large variety of game fish able to test your skill. The park has an airstrip, camping sites, boat docks, cottages, beach and picnic areas. Another favorite fishing spot is Nolin Reservoir in the southern part of this region.

Those who cherish the old and quaint will enjoy seeing the ancient water-powered grain mill still operating at Falls of Rough.

In the southern part of this region - old Indian land - streams meander, springs bubble and caves abound. There is a famous old mineral springs and health spa near Letchfield known as Grayson Springs.

Much of this region is rich in historical background. At Elizabethtown is the inn where village, with 10,000 acres of Kentucky knobland where animals and birds, trees, shrubs and flowers are on view for public enjoyment. It is a wild life refuge of unusual beauty, with fishing, picnicking facilities, foot trails and a nature center.

"The wild, lonely, beautiful country," a writer has described the natural bridge country of central eastern Kentucky. "Wild with its rivers grimly marked in swift shoals and hidden rocks, lonely in that you can go for miles along its riverbanks without seeing more than a house or two, and made beautiful by its brilliant streaks of flowers and trees and sky."

The winners — the Licking, the Rockcastle, the Kentucky and the Tories, said the Thelwell group. The original highway to lead from Cincinnati man's earliest settlement.

The Palisades of the Kentucky, once echoed by the Culler and songs of Daniel Boone, "Big Jim" McClinton, James Harrell, Doctor Thomas Walker and John Patterson, as well as the famous river pirates who lay in wait at the mouth of their prizes who say it was the first time.

The fact is, both Missouri and Indiana were relative newcomers compared to the ancient Indian people among the earliest inhabitants in all North America. Their burial mounds, constructed about 800 years before the birth of Christ, are still being located here in present-day Wolfe and Montgomery counties.

Near the a mischievous playboy here, creating fascination like Hell's Half Acre and the Kents Rock, near Salberaville. And within the Cumberland National Forest is the Red River Valley, just off the new Mountain Parkway. Three-story-high Sky Bridge, Half Moon Princess, are among arches cut many thousands of years ago from an ancient sea bottom. Scenic hiking trails, craters, towers and the Red River Gorge Drive lead from one attraction to another, then back to Natural Bridge State Park's modern Hermitage Lodge, fine dining room, big pool and cottages.

Not very far to the south, off Kentucky 52, is Glen Eden Falls, where no picnicer can pause without a hearty chuckle. For it was here that fiery circuit-rider Lorenzo Dow delivered an old-fashioned sermon seated on his trusty mount.

While Preacher Dow watched his flock of sheep graze peacefully in the pastures of hell, the writer, who had been told that the sheep were the shyer of the lot, the good reverend grabbed the first of the flock and, with a flourish, lobbed the lamb of an overhanging cedar tree and, saved by an alert listener, collapsed there, leaving the day with feet firmly planted on the ground.

The second sheep to be sent to Powell Canyon was a young goat, sent to the canyon to be a holy playmate for the sheep. The goat, in a holy playmate, leaped at the Wednesday afternoon of Ky. 11 and is close to the Mountain Parkway. From that health on June 7, 1969, Daniel Boone and his exploring party, 17, 1769, viewed the "beautiful levels of Kan-buck-a" the Bluegrass area. The sheep were the sheep of the Bluegrass area, the sheep were the sheep of the Bluegrass area, the sheep were the sheep of the Bluegrass area.

In the Fremont area, old multi-powered sorghum mills provide visitors with a scene that is fast vanishing from America. Travelers can satisfy their "sweet tooth" merely by pulling over to the roadside and buying excellent sorghum straight from the cane fields.

Around Beattyville is a recreation and sportsman's paradise, at the junction of the three forks of the Kentucky River. In the city and close by are a good-sized public swimming pool and a modern public golf course and driving range.

Nearby Sturgeon Creek, snipping into the Kentucky River at Heidelberg, has excellent stocks of bass, muskie and rock perch. The waters are bounded by beautiful picnic grounds.

A few miles from Beatyville is The Cathedral, started about 10 years ago as an Episcopalian mission priest's labor of love. The wooden structure is impressive with its massive Gothic roof, columns and gables.

Wild Dog Creek, once the site of a grain lumber operation in Owsley and Jackson counties, is now a ghost town. It is, however, an ideal spot for out-of-the-way hiking, in-season hunting, fishing and just plain exploring. It can be reached via an excellent U. S. Forest Service road, off the New Zion Road.

One trace of some of the mountain battles we hear today, telling hithermost stories of the past, is "Bloody Breckin." This beautiful county was bloodsoaked by the fabled battle of the ridge, where the Union army won a decisive victory over the Confederates. The battle was fought in the United States from which not one person was killed. The county was named in honor of the famous Kentucky politician, "Old Hickory" Andrew Jackson. In 1990, the county was named "Chain of Lakes" developed since 1960.

Sky Bridge, on Red River in Wolfe County, is a startling natural rock formation in the Cumberland National Forest. A favorite spot for sightseers, Sky Bridge is located just off the Mountain Parkway on Ky. 715 near Pine Ridge.

Kentucky's scenic Mountain Parkway, stretching from the I-75 Bypass region near Winchester through the heart of the land of natural bridges and shaded forest trails, is a main gateway to popular vacation areas in the Cumberland.

Forest. Unusual rock formations, arches, bridges, tunnels, and boulders add interest to mountain scenery. The new lodge provides modern accommodations and excellent food at moderate prices. Swimming, fishing, horseback riding and hiking the many miles of trails are among popular recreation activities at Natural Bridge.

Greenbo Lake, with 225 acres of fishing, swimming and boating waters, attracts thousands to a park near Ashland. Complete dock facilities, beach and picnic area with shelter house, are all available at Greenbo Lake State Park.

Campers delight in Falmouth Lake State Park's many ideal tent and trailer locations and swimming, boating and fishing. There is also a playground and picnic area at the park located at Falmouth in Pendleton County.

CENTRAL KENTUCKY CAVE AREA

Unique among all regions of the world is the cave country of south central Kentucky. There, famous Mammoth Cave is only one of many underground wonders in the area, but it is the biggest and the best known and is Kentucky's earliest major tourist attraction.

Mammoth Cave was discovered in 1798 and has since been visited by more than 100 million people. A national park of about 53,000 acres was established on land including the cave in 1941.

Private developments have sprouted up around the great cavern and its entrance, and nearby caves are operated privately and include Mammoth Caves, Diamond Caves, Crystal Caves and others. New caves are still being discovered and professional and amateur spelunkers alike take great delight in the miles of passages.

A major new luxury resort, Park Mammoth Resort, has opened on a 1,000-acre plot that includes three newly-developed caves.

The cave country is a land of knobs and valleys, typical of the region. The area, which includes the city of Paducah and the surrounding region, is a place of great historical interest.

Many a creek winds water into Barren Lake which means with fish. You can expect to catch bass, muskies, walleyes, crappie and channel cats. The lake is being stocked with rainbow trout. You can also expect good fishing in Nolichucky River, a big tributary north of Mammoth Cave.

This region has rich tobacco fields, green acres with grazing livestock, and a predilection for Dixie, as attested by Confederate monuments at Glasgow and elsewhere. The area, which includes the city of Paducah and the surrounding region, is a place of great historical interest.

Some of the place names hereabouts suggest the rural man's problems and invention in designing things: Dismal Rock, Whistling Mountain, Cubby Hole, Big Difficult Creek, Indigo Bend, Grab, Cub Run, Pussum Scratch and Shanty Hollow Lake.

Travelers are bound to get hungry and this is a good area for the hearty appetite. The area, which includes the city of Paducah and the surrounding region, is a place of great historical interest.

Beard. Old time ferries still cross this river. Indian mounds are found in the neighborhood and some of the earliest of sorghum molasses is turned out in picturesque sorghum mills which still use mules to turn the press that crushes the cane.

Horse Cave is a major center for good country ham, and you can buy choice cheese, locally produced at Horse Cave, Glasgow, Greensburg and other markets. You can watch a tobacco auction and hear the chant of the fast-moving auctioneer.

Look around and you may find an Indian arrowhead. Travel routes in this region were first laid out by the buffalo and Indian warriors and Nolin River gorge entrance land once inhabited by Indian men.

Mammoth Cave offers the thrill of adventure of its avenues showing colorful stalactites and stalagmites, huge cavern rooms and spectacular pits and domes. You can take a subterranean boat ride on Echo River and have lunch in the vast, wooded park.

Old Mulkey Meeting House, erected in 1798, oldest log church in Kentucky. It is now a State shrine. The congregation record book, written with pebbles, is still preserved.

In the middle of this varied, interesting country is Bowling Green, the site of Western Kentucky College and Ed Diddle's famous basketball team.

This section of Kentucky, modernized with major roads and grand models, still may be one of the last deluges for America's peaceful rural life. Here, not so long ago, recreation consisted of barn-raising, quilting parties, apple-pooling, mule-swapping, singing parties and square dancing.

Vacationers to Mammoth Cave pass under this modernistic bridge leading to the visitor's center on their way to begin one of the many cave tours offered at the national park in Kentucky's cave country. In addition to many miles of underground caverns with their spectacular lights, the park offers a wide variety of recreational activities. The park is open to the public and is a place of great historical interest.

Fishing on Nolin Reservoir is just one of the many pleasures offered by this 5,795-acre lake, a short drive from the Western Kentucky Turfplex. There are several ramps around Nolin to launch boats for pleasure cruises, fishing, swimming or skiing.

Barren Reservoir, one of Kentucky's newest and largest man-made lakes, was completed just last year and is already producing good catches of bass and crappie. Eight launching sites are provided around the 10,000-acre body, located between Glasgow and Scottsville. The State government is planning full-scale development of a resort part there.

Louisville . . . PROGRESS CENTER U.S.A.

Louisville, largest city in Kentucky, is the shopping center for more than a million people. A center of culture and entertainment, the home of the Kentucky Derby and the site of the Kentucky State Fair.

Louisville is a progressively modern midwestern city just below the Mason-Dixon line. It still retains the hospitality and charm of the old South.

It is the metropolis of an essentially agricultural state but counts within its limits the homes of the world's famous horse breeders, the makers of whiskey, tobacco, automobiles, home appliances, baseball bats.

It has actor groups, church groups, and it is the home of the Louisville Orchestra which just this summer performed at Festival-of-the-Arts celebration in the B. J. Palmer House at the request of the Louisville Board of Commerce.

There are 18 major parks and numerous playgrounds in Louisville and Jefferson County. Among them are Irongate, where a skyline view of the city is seen from a high-drive overlook, and extensive racing tracks.

Louisville and Jefferson County outside the city limits are a beautiful area. The University of Louisville, the largest Southern and Kentucky Southern.

Boating, sailing, and other water sports are popular on the broad Ohio River that flows past the city. The city has a fine beach and launching ramps are available to water-minded visitors.

Louisville's importance as a port for river transportation is growing constantly. Many are the boats and barges that pass through the locks and locks of the city. The city is more popular than the hills of Louisville.

A steamboat complex with callings, the Belle was purchased three years ago by Jefferson County and is operated as a city-county facility during the summer months to take both sightseeing and riverboat excursions.

The Belle has gained most of her fame, however, by engaging in steamboat races prior to the last three Derbys against a sister craft, the Belle Queen from Cincinnati, Ohio.

These steamboat races annually attract thousands of spectators who fill both banks as passengers and line both sides of the mile-wide river to view the 15-mile contest up the river. The Kentucky Derby is run the first Saturday in May every year at Churchill Downs.

The historic, well-guarded racing plant in Louisville's South End. The running of the Derby is preceded by a gala week of festivities. The Downs also houses a Thoroughbred museum that is open free to visiting year-round.

Meigs Park, on the site of the old State Fairgrounds, is a beautiful park. Louisville is another popular Thoroughbred track.

Also popular with visitors are other museums such as the J. B. Speed Memorial Museum, with many exhibits, the Flagon Club and its collection of Kentucky art, and the Louisville Derby.

Distilleries of Louisville and Jefferson County produce more than half of all Bourbon whiskey made in the United States. Louisville makes as one of the leading tobacco manufacturing centers of the world. Scores of Louisville plants, both large and small, conduct tours for visitors.

Louisville is a fascinating architecture. It is the home of the Kentucky Jockey Club, the Golden Shovel, a noted Kentucky architect, in his characteristic Greek Revival style in 1850.

It is also "Old Louisville" that extends south from Broadway. Many of the stately homes and mansions are over a hundred years old. A movement was started several years ago to preserve the best part of this section of the city.

Louisville is a famous, the home designed by Thomas Jefferson where Abraham Lincoln and Zachary Taylor's home where monument and tomb form the focal point of a national memorial and military cemetery.

Louisville, too, is George Rogers Clark's home. Locust Grove, a trust on his holiday site, built in 1800 at 5000 Broadway Road, is a fine example of a Georgian style home. It is open to the public and has guided tours.

Another noted place of interest on Shelbyville Road at the edge of the city is Omoro. The magnificent estate contains a late-18th-century log structure, and is the site of the annual Omoro Sheepchase each spring.

Louisville is some of the finest parks in the country. The parks and playgrounds cover more than 1,000 acres. There are golf courses, tennis courts, baseball and football fields.

Louisville is also an outstanding convention and sports center, with the enormous Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center at the southern outskirts of the city and the Convention Center at Sixth and Walnut Streets downtown. Both are excellent for entertainment and sports events year round.

Casting down the river on the Belle of Louisville, one of the last Ohio River steamboats, is a favorite with visitors to Louisville. Once known as the Anson, the Belle, at 50 years of age, is still grand dame of the Louisville waterfront. Excursions are reasonably priced and often open to the public.

On the first Saturday each May, millions of Americans turn their thoughts to the fabulous Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. First run in 1875 over the same course, the Derby has since grown into a classic of the sport. Over 75,000 people are open each year for the Derby. The Kentucky Derby is a famous flowerbed. A fascinating museum of racing is open free to the public.

THE LAND BY THE RIVER

Does your family have as many ideas as there are numbers about what to do on vacation? You can please them all with a vacation in Kentucky's Land By the River - a region that offers a wide assortment of attractions.

These attractions are found in Louisville along the beautiful scenic Ohio River up to Covington and Newport.

Just east of Louisville, those of you who do on rural beauty will see some of the best-looking and many varieties of cattle grazing in pastures and meadows and pastures.

Along the roadways you will see alternate fields of bright blue tobacco and head-high corn reaching for the sun, other tall stalks of grain.

Spectacular views from the windows of General Butler State Park's 24-room lodge, show well the matchless Kentucky and Ohio river valleys around Covington. A small lake offers swimming, "fay" fishing and pleasure boating. There are horseback riding, hiking trails, an observation tower and a nine-hole golf course. A museum displaying Ohio River lore is located at the Belle mansion in the 800-acre vacation park.

Remnants of former crops are being unearthed at Big Bone Lick State Park near Covington, as modern-day archaeologists explore the fossil-rich area. At various times vacationers can visit the dig locations in the park when special hours are provided. A picnic shelter is available.

Lake Cumberland — Dale Hollow Region

Vacationing in the forested foothills of the Cumberland Mountains in Southeastern Kentucky, you can lose yourself in magnificent, uncluttered scenery without being at "the end of the earth."

Just look at the map and figure the mileage. From Columbus, Ohio, it is 354 miles and from Cincinnati, Ohio, it is 254 miles. Lake Cumberland is in the heart of the region. It is 252 miles from Huntington, W. Va., it is 252 miles from Roanoke, Va., 372; Charleston, N. C., 300; Chattanooga, Tenn., 190; St. Louis, Mo., 655 and Indianapolis, Ind., 294.

Citizens are only 543 miles away, and if they like to camp, fish, or just while away the time in the great outdoors, they find a trip in this region worthwhile.

Scenic beauty, excellent accommodations, food, hospitality and a variety of recreational facilities have made this area one of the fastest growing vacation centers in America.

Lake Cumberland, which averages more than 90 feet in depth, with a shoreline of 1,255 miles and clear, pure waters, is a mecca for sightseers, anglers and boating enthusiasts.

Dale Hollow Reservoir, sprawling across the second canyons for years to thousands from Kentucky, Tennessee and other states.

The Cumberland River, scene of mighty Cumberland Falls, provides fine fishing as do the Green, Rockcastle, Laurel and Dix rivers which flow through the region.

Part of the area falls deep within the Cumberland National Forest, where campers and hikers can enjoy the solitude of shaded trails and wooded camping areas.

Real old country music and folk dancing are part of this area's way of life. At Radio Valley, near Mt. Vernon, the two Saturday night barn dance shows (at 7 and 9 p.m.) to foot-tapping music is a popular tradition.

Square dancing is a popular pastime at Cumberland Falls State Park, near Corbin. Cultural comm. skirts swirl, the fiddler's music rings out and experienced callers sound the steps, handed down through generations.

Join in too, for the dancers reach the intricate maneuvers. At the park the dancing is often done under the stars.

The formation of Lake Cumberland by construction of Wolf Creek Dam was instrumental in converting this rugged region of Southeastern Kentucky into a haven for fishermen, campers, hikers and all who love the outdoors.

Boat docks on the lake, including one at Lake Cumberland Falls State Park, are available.

Surrounded by beautiful Lake Cumberland, Burnside Island State Park is reached by a paved causeway. A beach, nine-hole golf course, picnic area and shelters, and tent and trailer parking are in the park, which is located at Burnside near Somerset.

Cumberland Falls State Park, near Corbin, is in the heart of the Cumberland National Forest. The park offers excellent accommodations, beach and pool, camping, picnic areas, horseback riding and playground equipment at the park.

THE BLUEGRASS History and Heritage Land

It's said that heaven is a Kentucky of a place, and Central Kentuckians are convinced that the Bluegrass is a choice spot in the promised land. In the heart of the state, the heritage and horses, blended with a delightful array of things to do.

Central Kentucky is the inner Bluegrass region. Hospitality here was already lavish when the Commonwealth was still a part of Virginia. The area was still a part of the Bluegrass when the Lincoln Memorial was built near Crab Orchard at Sportsman Hill in the 1780's. Its builder, William Whitely, watched history being made at his doorstep on the Wilderness Road and welcomed such figures as George Rogers Clark and Boone himself built a fort on the Kentucky River in the Bluegrass section; and today Fort Boone is a state shrine.
